Description

Rare pair of half fire pots Carved, gilded and painted wood faux marble France, Louis XIV period Second half of the 17th century Height: 40 cm (Restorations and small losses) Very beautiful pair of fire pots in fir, the body decorated with a post frieze, the upper part with a flame. An element of an architectural altarpiece These fire pots are a testimony to the large architectural altarpieces developed in the 17th century following the Catholic counter-reformation. The altarpieces, one of the aims of which was the education of the faithful, combined painting, sculpture and architecture. The fire pots were fixed to the top of the altarpieces. I have attached a photo of the altarpiece of Saint-Jean-Baptiste from 1675 in the church of Saint-Thégonnec in Finistère where you can see the location of the
