Description

Pair of soft porcelain coolers also called "glass buckets" with polychrome floral decoration, from the 18th century.

Decorated with a frieze of flowers composed of roses, pansies and daffodils embellished with their foliage, thus bringing colors to the vases, such as pink, purple and yellow and green.

Adorned with multiple golden threads on the edges, which can be found on the contours on the base and the neck.

Marked LL intertwined on the back of each of the vases, with the letter-date "aa" (1778) as well as the mark of the painter Nicquet for the first and the mark of the painter Laroche for the second.

18th century period.

As is Chips on one.
