Description

Buffet in a row of curved woodwork and facade and on the sides in walnut from the Regency period certainly from the Castres region with rounded corners the top with a thick marble with a red corbin beak from the Pyrenees. Entirely original condition it has just been dismantled and reassembled to pass the floors and it is missing the keys that I have to do. I present it in the state in which I found it it is a very healthy and well-made piece of furniture. The thick marble from the Pyrenees is in perfect condition. Atypical piece of furniture very beautiful in design.
