Description

Wang Jida's "Buck and Doe" is a pair of patinated bronze sculptures, symbolizing the grace and timeless elegance of wildlife. Crafted with exceptional finesse, these sculptures embody the Art Deco style, recognizable by the geometric patterns in polished bronze that adorn the animals' bodies. The stag and doe, with their fluid and natural postures, evoke both strength and gentleness, capturing a moment of tranquility in nature. The burnished bronze is subtly patinated, giving the works a textural richness that beautifully reflects the light. Each sculpture is signed and dated "Wang Jida. 88," marking their limited edition. The stag is marked "RFA 1988 5/300 CRF" and the doe "CRF 53/300," testifying to the exclusivity of these works of art. Deer
