Description

Louis XV 18th century dressing table, all sides in rosewood and amaranth. It opens on the top with a central flap revealing a period mercury mirror and two side flaps revealing storage compartments lined with period red paper. On the front, two drawers and a writing drawer lined with period red leather covered in gold. This dressing table rests on four arched legs dressed with bronze scraps on the upper part and closed sabots at the bottom of the feet. Three beautiful floral marquetry on a background of rosewood in curling decorate the three top shelves. Furniture veneered with rosewood in curling and amaranth on an oak frame. Dressing table bearing the stamp LOUIS PERIDIEZ received master in 1764, in perfect condition, revarnished with a stamp and entirely period, locks, bronzes.
