Description

Fireplace, monumental, ca.1775, dramatically sculpted in veined Arabescato marble. The important frieze is slightly more Baroque in character. The large serpentine shelf rest above the undulating frieze, which is centered by a Rococo shell. The beautiful ends are supported by flamboyant panelled, massive jambs, profoundly adorned by sinuous carvings. This fireplace is a magnificent piece of craftsmanship and a true marvel of design and artistry. A testament to it's timeless beauty. Will be a focal point in a modern room as well. Will be delivered with old marble floortiles to make a frontfloor.
