Description

Valuable carved walnut cabinet, with projecting top surmounted by a band decorated with recurring claw-carved elements, two-door front with moldings, flanked by pilasters descending from the coat-of-arms cartouche; a projecting urn-shaped basement rests frontally on lion's paw feet (antique but not original); a fine specimen of great quality and dating from an exceptional period in the evolution of Italian furniture. The sideboard has some restoration of wooden dowels, visible in the photos, original structure of beautiful patina .
