XVI and the beginning of the revolutionary period.

Henri Salembier (1753 - 1820)

This Parisian painter and ornamentalist produced a number of decorative books from 1777 onwards. These were hugely successful and were instrumental in developing the vocabulary used in the French decorative arts at the end of the Ancien Régime and during the revolutionary period. Finally, it should be noted that Henri Salembier worked in collaboration with the Manufacture du Duc d'Angoulême: Dihl and Guérhard.

Condition report: wear to the gilding, and restoration. Uncommon piece.
