Description

Charming little Louis XIII period sideboard in solid walnut. It rests on two ball feet at the front and two straight feet at the back, all topped with a beautiful molding. It opens on the front with two small leaves with panels each decorated with four small triangular motifs and molded contours. The two sides of our piece of furniture have the same motifs as the doors. The whole is topped with a wooden top molded on its contour. This small piece of furniture is in very good general condition. Indeed, it has old repairs probably carried out during the 19th century. The top, the backs as well as the two ball feet have been redone. We note some small losses on the base molding as well as the top of the right door. We would also like to point out that this charming piece of furniture with pleasant and unusual
