Description

Elegant and rare Louis XIV period oratory in marquetry and walnut wood from the early 18th century

Very beautiful Louis XIV period piece of furniture composed of a door with its lock and key and a lectern which allows storage or to put a beautiful book

Superb marquetry work on its front as well as on its two sides where we can find two diamonds shapes

The bottom of the oratory hides a small secret drawer (see pictures)

We can find below the flap a text which indicates that the oratory belonged to the Marquise de Nollent
