Description

I present here an astonishing 18th century French Baroque style wall console in lightly stained oak with a matt patina with a cartouche motif and a half-moon acanthus leaf pleats. It has a swirling motif with two twisted protruding ribs, the base of the largest of which ends in an orifice with sun-shaped foliage edges, the movement as well as the quality of the sculpture and its finish make this ornamental wall element an elegant support to present a statue or an object that you want to see, magnify and contemplate in complete safety in an elegant and ornamental way with all its power; a beautiful piece in good original condition, both decorative and practical
