Description

Low carved oak sideboard from the 19th century. This piece of furniture is typical of Normandy, with its fine and abundant sculptures. The uprights are rounded with a candle and end with "doe" feet. The door panels are mounted with flat strips. This sideboard has survived the years without damage, no joinery was necessary. Just a good cleaning and a wax patina. The patina is rather light for oak, the interiors are glazed. L 138 cm H 102 cm D 55.5 cm Shipping costs included for mainland France
