Description

This cylinder desk is an exquisite example of Louis XV furniture renowned for its elegance and refinement. It opens with a cylinder veneered with a quatrefoil in satin mahogany with large lemonwood fillets and a mitered rosewood frame. It simultaneously opens a dark red leather shelf, decorated with gilded vignettes and motifs adding a touch of luxury. The four interior drawers in mahogany and light wood, fitted with lentil knobs, as well as three horizontal niches, offer practical and aesthetic storage solutions. The scalloped apron has a large drawer with mascarons and pull rings. The presence of the original lock, accompanied by its entry and key, underlines the authenticity and historical value of this piece of furniture. The top of this piece of furniture has a slightly concave part adding
