Roger Paul Roux known as Pól Roux was born on 15/11/1926 near Marseille. Very young he drew but life led him to alternate between a lumberjack and shepherd activity in the Alps, where he enjoyed this beautiful nature. Attracted by meditation he became a novice at the Montrieux charterhouse. A free spirit, he joined the resistance during the war then refused to obey orders during his military service in Carthage in Tunisia. Then married and became a teacher in Marseille, where he took courses at the Beaux Arts which awarded him several prizes. He participated in the movements of his time in May
