'kafzadé' background (plain field), nine medallions stand out with a beautiful interpretation of the 'gôl farang'* (French rose) pattern. The main border uses the 'göl farang' pattern.

* Göl farang: The influence comes from the Damascus rose whose rose pattern inspired Safavid carpets, which in turn influenced European tapestries. At the end of the 19th century and the beginning of the 20th century, the göl farangi pattern, which means rose or flower of France, is found in the Orient on Karabakh carpets and kilims (Caucasus), on certain Iranian carpets such as those of Bidjar, Senneh and the Bakthiar of the village of Faradoumbeh, as well as on Moldavian kilims from the Balkans.
