Description

OLD RIDGE TILES
17th and 18th century period
Terracotta handcrafted by Burgundian tile makers for over 4 to 5 centuries
Fired in a wood fire, these ridge tiles, sorted, de-mossed and ready to be replaced will ensure use for several centuries if they are laid traditionally and well fixed to the adjacent framework.
A hole allows screwing to the framework from above.
A roof capped with these ridge tiles will give all the charm of an authentic roof to your house.

Size: Approximately 30 to 35 cm long, sometimes 40 cm.
Classic width of 25/30 cm,
