Description

This set consists of a belt buckle with two enamel domes with a dragon motif in a silver mount decorated with rosettes and twisted silver wire, and a brooch of the same work.

The pattern and work of the mount suggest a Far Eastern origin.

Brooch with a piston safety closure system.

The elements are large and of substantial weight.

No hallmark, silver tested with a touchstone.

Very good condition, only some wear to the enamel.

Period early 20th century, circa 1920.

Diameter of each piece 5.2cm, length of the closed belt buckle 10cm, loops provided for a ribbon up to 2.6cm.

Weight 101g for the set
