Description

(google translate) Furniture made in the second half of the 19th century. Structure of the furniture in oak and mahogany. Decorative fittings in gilded bronze, of very good quality. The set consists of a library cabinet, a desk and an armchair. Bookcase with three doors, central section with brass lattice. Double-sided desk, decorative on four sides. On the sides, in addition, sliding auxiliary planes. Desk top covered in leather (leather to be replaced due to damage). Armchair in solid mahogany with seat in preserved original thick leather. Very good state of conservation. The furniture requires cosmetic restoration - the varnish must be refreshed and the leather of the top must be replaced.
