Description

Pair of large Louis XV style 18th century beech armchairs. Deep carving of the cartouche of the back representing a bouquet of flowers continuing on the woodwork with a garland of leaves. The same motif is found carved in the belt. The well-molded armrests are flared allowing a good reception for these seats. Slightly inclined Queen's back. The seat is wide and upholstered in the traditional way, horsehair on straps. No reinforcements under the belt, well pegged, the 2 armchairs are very stable. They are covered with a "golden yellow" damask cotton with Louis XV style floral patterns. Very good general condition for this pair of Louis XV period living room armchairs.
