Kingdom in his own company. The handcrafted piece is made from elm wood. Also known as the 'Chairmaker's Chair' (Model 316), this range of rocking chairs was an iconic staple of mid-century modern British design. It features a beautiful combination of traditional timber joinery, an eye-catching spindle back and an 'ergonomic' wooden seat. This is the perfect piece for lounging in style! The chair has been beautifully upcycled. The original, worn dark lacquer has been carefully removed, revealing the beautiful, pristine elm wood underneath. The ornate central bar has been painted in a matte gold colour, which shimmers in certain lighting conditions and blends into the natural wood frame in others.
