Description

Pierre Campain (1893-1967) - "Sous la pluie" oil on Isorel This work captures an urban scene in a light rain, typical of Campain's style, with a dark and subtle color palette that evokes the melancholic atmosphere of French cities at the beginning of the 20th century. Passersby, sheltered under umbrellas, move along a street lined with buildings and shops, offering a glimpse of daily life in an intimate and nostalgic atmosphere. The painting is framed in a richly decorated carved wooden frame, which accentuates the vintage and timeless character of the work.
