Description

Aubusson Tapestry 20th Century by Jean Lurcat
Atelier Suzanne Goubely-gatien Corail Bleu
The tapestry presents a complex and dreamlike composition, evoking a fantastic and mysterious universe. On a black background, organic and sinuous shapes dominate that seem to represent a kind of aquatic landscape. In the center, a stretch of water is populated with stylized fish, while the edges are bordered by aquatic plants with strange shapes. The sky is populated with brightly colored birds, which seem to observe the scene with curiosity. The entire composition is characterized by a strong contrast between the dark colors of the background and the bright colors of the figurative elements. Some elements that can be noted: Water: Central element of the composition, it is represented in a very expressive way, with sinuous lines and deep colors. It evokes both life and death, movement and calm. Birds: Present in several places in the tapestry, they often symbolize freedom, communication and spirituality. Their bright colours and dynamic shapes create a sense of movement and energy. Plants: Aquatic plants, with their strange shapes and bright colours, add a dreamlike dimension to the composition. They can be interpreted as symbols of nature, growth and transformation.
