Description

Constant DORE (1883-1963)

Oil on canvas 50x61 cm "The flower quay in Paris" around 1930

Signed lower left

A student of Pierre Eugène Montézin, Constant Doré exhibited at the Salon des Artistes Français from 1908 and received a prize from the Société des Paysages in 1925.

A landscape painter, Doré depicts Paris in a lively and contrasting palette, as in this flower market where the city's hustle and bustle brightens up the urban landscape.
