Description

DUNOYER (Jacques-Michel), painter born June 20, 1933 in Arras and died January 23, 2000 in Monaco (Éc. Fr). Post-impressionist painter working in oil, he chose nature, landscapes of France or elsewhere and bouquets of flowers as his source of inspiration. Self-taught, it was by showing his first paintings to the great Parisian dealer Armand Drouant, who strongly encouraged him to persevere, that he settled in 1964 in his Studio in Saint-Paul-de-Vence, rue Grande, where he remained until his death in 2000. His first exhibitions at the Saint-Paul museum, in Paris, Cannes and then at the Mont d'Arbois gallery at the Rothschild's in Megève, opened the doors to fame for him. Very quickly, big names flocked to the small workshop, members of royal courts, artists, businessmen or collectors among whom: Prince Nikita Romanov, Dom Jaime of Spain, Prince al Khalifa, Saul Chaplin, James Stewart, Barbara Streisand etc... It was Robert Wagner and Nathalie Wood who, having become friends, opened the doors of all of Hollywood to him by offering him a private exhibition at their home in 1969 in Los Angeles. These are images of serenity, happiness and harmony that will leave a strong mark on his work. This very pretty painting, an oil on canvas, showing a bouquet of flowers is representative of his talent. It is signed by the artist's hand at the bottom right (the letter G was added from 1966 in homage to his wife Gwendoline) and dated (19)78. Dimensions: Format 30F. Height 92 cm. Width 72 cm (115 cm x 98 cm with the pretty original frame). Good condition. You can contact us at 0787869393 or 0953253741.
