Description

Pair of French Art Déco gueridons forged iron gray marble top 1920s

These very elegant side tables are characterized by their elegant and delicate design language. Stylized flowers can be seen on the 3 table frames. The 3 legs converge at the end to form 3 fine branches. The table legs at the top have a kind of fanned-out branching, which are also provided with small buds.

The legs are in contact with a single joint at the bottom, each decorated with small snail-shaped rods.

The entire surface is textured, only the upper edge where the stone comes to rest is smooth.

The objects are light-footed and extremely
