

Fragment Of A Late Gothic Cremonese Ceiling In Painted Poplar

950 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Painted wood

Width : 33

Height : 85

Depth : 3,5 cm

Description

Amazing fragment of a late Gothic Cremonese ceiling in painted poplar. On the upper panel, representation of the punishment of a vainglorious woman (a harpy ok and defecates on her head while looking in the mirror, according to the iconography of the Last Judgment by Taddeo di Bartolo at the collegiate church of San Gimignano). Lower panel decorated with floral motifs. Cremona first half of the 15th century.

Dealer

Antichità Poliarts

Antiques irons, doors and high-end objects

Tel : +39(0) 286 452 227

Mobile : +39 3333055542

Via vigevano 33

Milano 20144