Description

This warm painting invites us to discover two young women in their intimacy. The spontaneous improvisation of this painting full of freshness surprises us with its harmonious tones. The young woman's gaze lets us guess a calm and relaxed atmosphere. Jacqueline Dunand born in 1924 was a human and sensitive artist. Of her, we want to say that she is an artist, that she is without restriction, because her approach is dominated by concerns of a spiritual as well as aesthetic nature. Philosophical and plastic necessities coincide and guide her work. Dunand opposes the concentration of the intimate order, the very one which, attentive to passions, places the being in front of his aspirations. Dimensions 54 x 73 cm
