Description

Reclining nude representing a young sleeping woman. The pictorial technique of small touches applied with a brush in short and rapid passes gives a halo that brings a very particular velvety feel specific to this artist on the models of the skin.
The subtle play of shadow and light contributes to illuminating this intimate scene with an obvious sensual abandonment but great delicacy.
The charming model contributes greatly to this.
We perceive the feminine gaze of the painter which gives the originality of the treatment of this nude.
Oil on hardboard like almost all of her production associated with a very beautiful gilded Barbizon-type frame in very good condition.
Georgette Nivert: French painter. 20th century.
