Description

A Japanese bronze Hu vase. Edo / Meiji, 19th century. Finely cast vessel on a high foot with lobed body and mythical creature handles, the shape strongly reminiscent of archaic Chinese vessels. The surface is neatly cast with a very fine design of kiko-hanabishi, chestnut flowers placed in the center of hexagonal frames, a pattern often used in kimonos and other traditional clothing. The Chinese form, combined with the Japanese surface design, is a good example of the cultural influence that Chinese bronzes had on Japanese bronzes. Ref: Compare with a bronze vase in the British Museum collection, museum number 1883,1020.25. Lit: For more information on this subject, see: Flower Bronzes of Japan (Joe Earle, 1995). Dimensions: Height 36 cm, width with handles 24 cm, diameter without handles 21
