Description

This exquisite 19th-century bowl showcases the timeless beauty of Imari porcelain, a style rooted in Japan and later embraced by Chinese artisans. The vibrant red, blue, and gold palette, along with intricate floral and geometric motifs, are hallmarks of the Imari tradition. Mounted in an ornate gilded bronze frame, the piece features elaborately scrolled handles and clawed feet, reflecting the opulent European aesthetic of the 19th century, when such pieces were highly prized. This remarkable fusion of East Asian artistry and Western decorative influence makes it a standout example of cross-cultural craftsmanship, perfect for collectors or fine interiors.
