Description

Very dense wooden plaque, probably pear wood, covered with a specific coating and very finely engraved with a scene of a gaming circle with many male characters conversing. In the foreground on the right, two men stand out. One from behind, the other in profile very "Vernean" look towards the outside of the room.

Probably a passage to be identified from one of Jules Verne's "extraordinary voyages"

Signed on the reverse LIX for Frederic Lix and TRICHON for Auguste Trichon

On the back, interesting writings in pen to decipher. Height: 15 cm - width 12 cm - thickness 2.2 cm
