Description

Very nice earthenware set including a series of six spice jars of different sizes: for flour, sugar, coffee, tea, pepper and spices. These six elements all have their lids. This set also includes two bottles for oil and vinegar. Both have their caps. A box for matches and one for salt complete this set. The two wall boxes open by means of a wooden lid that tilts backwards. All these pieces are decorated with a decoration representing a charming little village contained in a medallion. It is very rare to find such a complete set without any missing lids and caps. The set is in perfect condition, note just a few small enamel defects on some lids (see photos).
