Description

Pair of Qing Dynasty Chinese Hexagonal Vases 19th Century decorated in polychrome with peonies and birds with two handles formed by fruit and racemes. On the sides, vertically, there are ideograms. These are antique Chinese centre vases, also decorated on the back with the same phytomorphic and zoomorphic motif. They are in a good conditions, without restoration, with minimal felure inside the neck and minimal widespread chipping. They rest on two ebonised wooden bases that have been glued to the vase. China, second half of the 19th century.
