Description

HERMES watch, Harnais model, from 2010, in steel. The case is fully inserted into its thick stitched leather strap. This watch is therefore faithful to the spirit of the brand and refers through its design and the quality of its materials to its renowned saddlery activity. The leather strap is equipped with a folding clasp whose position is adjustable. The entire watch evokes the compactness and richness of the materials. This watch is equipped with a quartz movement and provides information on the date through a window located at 6 o'clock, topped with a magnifying glass on the glass, which is made of sapphire. Its dial is dotted with
