Description

We are pleased to present to you an exceptional object: a tooled leather pipe holder, a rare and majestic piece from the 20th century, combining both high-level craftsmanship and the influence of the leading artistic trends of the time.
Description: This remarkable pipe holder is made of tooled and studded leather, decorated with magnificent stamped patterns representing tobacco leaves, finely executed at the corners, which underline the quality and elegance of the piece. On the pediment, at the top of the object, is an inscription in stamped "western" letters, which proudly displays the text "Mes Bonnes Pipes", adding a touch of charm and humor. This typographic detail, which evokes the engraved letters of American signs, gives the object a singular personality, far from the usual conventions of classic pipe holders. The pipe holder was designed with functionality in mind: it is equipped with numerous loops, each allowing the collection pipes to be displayed with style and safety. These loops are arranged in a way where each pipe can be highlighted and admired. Whether for a passionate collector or a decorative art lover, this item is an object of contemplation and practice. Its imposing size, as well as its lines inspired by the Art Nouveau and Art Deco movements, make it an exceptional piece ideal for lovers and collectors of rare objects. Condition: The object has gone through the decades with care and caution. It is in good condition, showing light signs of wear, typical of an antique piece of furniture that has been used with care. The leather has been fully cleaned, nourished and waxed in our workshop to preserve its authentic appearance while offering it protection against the damage of time. The patina of the leather adds to its character, while ensuring great solidity for years to come. The studs and metal loops have been checked and are in excellent condition, ensuring both the stability and the beauty of the piece.
