Description

Soviet propaganda painting: Celebrating the meeting of the Red Army soldiers with the peasants. Two Red Army scouts are warmly welcomed by a village of poor peasants, their horses are watered and they are considered heroes. Surely a propaganda vision of the Russian Civil War (1917-1923) where the Red Army would have been welcomed as liberators by the populations of the Russian Empire. USSR, 1983. This painting is most certainly an officially commissioned painting and must have been in a state building. Average condition, cracks, losses. Signed lower right (? . ??????) + date "83". Dimensions: height 152 cm width 203 cm depth 3 cm. A rare piece not to be missed, to discover now on our site specializing in high-end antiques.
