Description

Small Louis XIII chest, known as a servant's chest, originally used to store clothes and personal effects of the latter, often made of common wood quality and very simple construction. The one we are presenting has two panels on the front, molded uprights and crosspieces with lock (without key) and its eclipette (small interior chest). Good condition, popular art furniture representative of Norman peasant furniture from the center of Manche. For any further information, do not hesitate to contact us. Delivery or shipping on estimate.
