Description

It is in a funny form that this version of clown is presented which borrows the characteristics of the white clown with his outfit and his hat but he is also close to the model of "grotesque clown", however, his sad face also refers to the "classic American tramp", always unhappy and dejected. Yes, we can say that you have here three clowns in one, and even better since it is a pyrogen, you will find on the back the match receptacle and its scraper. 1st half of the 20th century, probably of German origin.
