Description

Very beautiful pair of Louis XIII - Louis XIV style armchairs in walnut from the end of the 19th century. Each armchair rests on four turned baluster legs connected to each other by an H-shaped crotch, as well as a high crosspiece on the front, both turned baluster. The backs are wide and high and are slightly inclined outwards, thus providing greater comfort. The armrests are crooked, the ends are decorated with an acanthus leaf and rest on baluster supports. The upholstery, as well as the fabric, have been redone fairly recently, so the seat is very comfortable. The fabric used is a magnificent verdure of great quality. The work carried out by the upholsterer is remarkable, in fact, he completely covered the uprights of the backs, thus accentuating the difficulty of the work. A beautiful finish with
