Description

Oratory in solid walnut from the Louis XIII period. This piece of furniture rests on four straight legs with a rectangular section. It opens on the front with a leaf revealing a shelf, as well as a flap hinged by means of two wrought iron and studded hinges. The upper part is composed of a framed mirror topped with a dentil cornice. Our piece of furniture is decorated with four twisted half-columns. The right rear leg has an old joint. The bottom molding has a small lack at the left corner of the piece of furniture (see last photo). The mirror has traces of oxidation distributed over its entire surface (see penultimate photo). Our piece of furniture is presented in found condition with its original patina. This piece of furniture is in good condition considering its age, remember that it dates from the middle of
