Description

This superb oil on canvas is in very good condition, with some minimal traces of time, almost nothing. It is ready to be hung. Its original frame is also very well preserved. This Provençal landscape is not located, but it is most likely the surroundings of the Berre pond. It is monogrammed at the bottom right with the artist's characteristic D. Théophile Decanis (1848-1917) is a well-known and highly rated Provençal painter. He was a student and friend of Jean-Baptiste Olive. Many museums hold his works, Marseille, Dignes-les-Bains, Narbonne... He succeeded in creating with this painting a beautiful bucolic and luminous atmosphere of the Provençal hinterland, around 1880-1900. This landscape is really very pleasant and decorative. Dimensions with its frame: 71.5 x 54.5 cm.
