Description

- Leafy mask in carved wood of pin wood, work of the 17th century.- In the center, are the essential elements drawing the face: a mouth with almost grimacing lips, a wide nose, prominent cheekbones and two elongated almond-shaped eyes. Leaves seem to act as hairy apparatus. This is evidenced by the two large leaves emerging from the corners of the mouth and curling like a moustache and the large leaf at the top following the character's eyebrow arch.- This "leafy mask" motif, inherited from the Middle Ages, seems to express the fusion between the plant and human worlds.- Dimensions: Height: 38 cm, Width: 28.5 cm, Depth: 10 cm
