Description

Large porcelain vase decorated on the front with a representation of a Napoleonic battle: the Emperor on his white horse is in the foreground with his generals, while in the background a city burns. The painting is signed Chamele. This scene is highlighted on a yellow background, and is enhanced with gold decorations of the symbols of the Emperor: bees, imperial eagle, letter "N". Almost invisible in the gold, the date 1807. Vase in the style of Sèvres: we find the two intertwined L's, the mention Mft Impériale and the letters JPT in a triangle. Round gilded vignette under the foot. Very good condition, signs of use over time on the gilding. Height 68cm, diameter approx. 22cm.
