Description

The enamelled plaque reveals everything, proudly screwed onto the front of the mahogany box; it reads: "the essential automatic Dispenser of antiseptic towels Patented SGDG in France and abroad Hygiene, cleanliness and economy 3 rue Lafitte in Paris". The same title is engraved on the back of the object to be hung. On the back, however, the label of the instructions for use has lost some of its recommendations but the important notice inside the lid is still very fresh.... A small lack of wood inside the lid marks the use that has been made of it... The heading: "art object" suits it wonderfully
