each drawer and on the central door with hunting scenes, featuring hunters, dogs and game, in a decor of forests, architecture, lakes and mountains.

The door of the cabinet is framed by 2 baroque twisted columns, the whole topped with a cornice in openwork scrolls, painted in faux marble.

2 particularities distinguish this piece of furniture:

- the interior of the cabinet and drawers has kept its original relief wallpaper.
- the lock of the central drawer has a very original mechanism in 2 turns, which condemns the top drawer on the first turn of the key and the bottom drawer on the 2nd turn.

18th century piece of furniture, with a certain charm, remaining true to its era and its Swiss origin.
