Description

Terracotta sculpture representing a young Alsatian woman from the late 19th century by Friedrich Goldscheider. Very interesting piece by this famous creator who created magnificent works that are extremely lively and pleasant. Here is a large bust, height 74 cm, imposing by its size and its decorative effect representing a young elegant Alsatian woman wearing her large bow in her headdress. Perhaps a work created after the war of 1870 and the annexation of Alsace and Lorraine. Very beautiful original patina. Signature and numbering on the base at the back. Exceptional collector's item and of course also decorative. Possibility of sending to France and around the world by professional and insured carrier. Invoice and certificate provided
