Description

Folding armchair model Regina d'Africa from the Broomstick Series, designed by Vico Magistretti in 1979, in an elegant black version. This refined chair features a solid beechwood frame, complemented by sleek black stretched canvas that creates a striking contrast and adds a sophisticated touch to any space. The seat is equipped with a plush, padded cushion, covered in matching black fabric, providing both comfort and a modern, minimalist appeal. Designed for practicality, this chair can be easily folded, making it ideal for storage in smaller spaces or for versatile use in various settings. Produced in a limited edition, it was manufactured for a brief period, enhancing its rarity and desirability. Manufacturer: Alias, circa 1979. Bibliography: Domus, n. 601, December
