Description

Large wrought iron planter from the Blot-Galland house in Tournus around 1900. It rests on a stable support with four legs joined in a circle. The planter part is oval (51 cm X 43 cm) decorated with braided iron wire. It will find its place both indoors and outdoors. Its delicate style recalls the charm of winter gardens from the end of the 19th century. Perfect for creating a floral arrangement. Dimensions: 101 cm high.
