Alexandre Bloch, born in Paris on May 29, 1857 and died in the same city on November 11, 1919, is a French painter. Alexandre Bloch was a student of Jean-Léon Gérôme and Jules Bastien-Lepage. He began at the Salon of French Artists in 1880. He painted genre scenes, but also historical paintings of patriotic inspiration; he exhibited at the Salon paintings that illustrated in particular episodes of the Chouannerie and the Franco-German War of 1870. Alexandre Bloch was decorated with the Legion of Honor in 1911 for his services as a reserve lieutenant in a territorial infantry regiment. At his death, he was a military painter accredited as painter of the
