Description

Pair of vases from the Art Nouveau period. The plant decoration is typical of this period. We find the rush, the water lily and the stylized foliage all in movements of water. The alternation of low relief and round boss offer an impressive realism. The shape is discreet at the base like the seabed, generous and rounded in the center and the slender neck is sublimated by the stems. The original bottle green and bronze green tones add a little more to the whole. Delivery possible not included in the price.
